

THE FRIENDS OF THE OLD CROTON AQUEDUCT

Invite you to Participate in New York State's

INVASIVE SPECIES AWARENESS WEEK

Attend a demonstration, TALK and WALK ON THE AQUEDUCT, starting at the Keeper's House.
SUNDAY, JULY 15, 10AM TO 12 NOON

Learn about invasive plant species found on the trail and that may also be present in your backyard. Ever wonder about those vines choking the trees, or about those red berries on the bushes? Discover why invasive species are problematic, how to identify them and what we can do to manage them.

Your guides will be amateur naturalists DIANE ALDEN, Guide at Teatown's Wildflower Island, Friends' Board Member and member of the Lower Hudson Partnership for Invasive Species Management (PRISM) & DARIA GREGG, Wildflower Island Guide at Teatown and Citizen Scientist at the New York Botanical Garden.

KEEPER'S HOUSE, 15 WALNUT STREET, DOBBS FERRY
a short uphill walk east from the Metro-North Hudson Line Dobbs Ferry station.
Inquiries: Diane Alden, Daldenpc@bestweb.net, (914) 941-8536.

TRAIL
CONFERENCE

Friends of the Old Croton
Aqueduct